POSITIONING

Fitness is the most crowded category on the platform, and the outliers show how small channels get through anyway: the constraint. Standing, no equipment, no jumping, seated, over 50, for women, 30 minutes. Every winner names who the video is for and what they do not have, then promises a result.

An 871-subscriber channel and an 826,000-subscriber channel broke out on the same title shape. Your first ten videos use that shape with your audience's real constraint, and the first four form a series so a viewer has a reason to come back tomorrow.

The constraint is the niche

Nobody owns belly fat workouts. Somebody can own standing belly fat workouts for women over 50 with bad knees. The narrower the constraint, the weaker the competition and the higher the multiple, which is why the smallest channels in this set posted the biggest wins.

What is going viral in home fitness right now

Outlier follow-along workouts from channels of every size, pulled from OutlierKit

Each x is how far the video beat its own channel's normal views. Follow-along workouts hold retention because the viewer is doing them with you, so the multiples here translate into recommendation, not just search.

30-Min Standing BELLY FAT Workout for Beginners | No Jumping | Lose Inches Fast at...

Lady Now · 1.6K subs · 2.4K views · Jun 2026

No jumping is a constraint that names apartment dwellers and bad knees at once. 2.6x on 1,580 subscribers.

The patterns behind these numbers

- Result, place, time, constraint. Lose belly fat, at home, 30 minutes, no equipment. The four parts appear together in the largest multiples.
- Constraint names the audience. Over 50, for women, beginners, seated, no jumping: each one tells a specific person the video is theirs.
- Standing and seated are formats, not exercises. They remove the objection (floor, knees, space) before the click.
- A time window makes it a plan. Two weeks, four weeks, 30 days, daily: the window turns one video into a series.
- Length matches the workout. The 30-minute follow-alongs run 30 minutes; nobody trims them, and retention stays high because the viewer is exercising.

Your first 10 videos

Each one built from a proven outlier pattern, in the order to film them

Ideas one to four are the four-week series spine, titled with the week. Five to eight are search-led standalones for your constraint. Nine and ten are the experiments for month two.

How to sequence this

Publish weeks one to four on the same weekday, one a week, with the week number first in the title. Between them, publish one standalone from ideas five to eight, search-led, with the constraint in the title. Ideas nine and ten are month two, when the series has finished and there is a result to report. Cut a 45-second Short from each: the single move, the single result, the single constraint, with the long video pinned. Measure retention on the series episodes and search share on the standalones.

How to read the numbers. Every “x” is that video’s views divided by its own channel’s typical views, so a 10x video did ten times better than that channel normally does. Small channels are included on purpose: they show which topics pull viewers who have never heard of the creator.
